

Broddingnag-3 #93 GNV #3

2 March 1969

Game ABA (1969?) which has its' Spring 1901 moves in this issue, has a feature in common with most games in 'zines which permit country choice; Austria was the least favored country. It was listed last a total of 12 times, and one player didn't even list it.

Let me agree that Austria is in an unenviable position. It is a centrally located nation, directly astride Italy's route to the Balkans and Turkey's route West.

Secondly, from the listing lists, Austria has a firm hold on last place for overall performance. I can remember that a year ago Germany was in last place yet now many players list Germany as their first choice.

Austria has now ((with the completion of game '67AC in Diplophobia)) won as many games as France. It has been eliminated eleven times more often than France, however. But, let me lean on John McCallum, who supplied much of the information, and who says it so much better.

JOHN A. McCALLUM: "A QTRS" S.E.S. RALSTON, ALBERTA, CANADA

There is no doubt Austria is unpopular, and there is little doubt why. Austria can almost always get a non-aggression pact with Germany, but if its' other three neighbors gang up on it, it is going under in short order. However I must say I think that if it survives this very early period its chances are not as bleak as they are sometimes thought. Of the 61 games completed as I write this, here are the outcomes for the various countries, where W = win, T = Split Board Tie, D = Multi Player Draw, S = Other Survival, and E = elimination.

Country	W	T	D	S	E
Russia	13	2	2	13	31
England	12	1	4	19	25
Turkey	7	3	5	25	21
France	6	0	4	27	24
Austria	5	1	1	21	33
Germany	4	3	2	19	33
Italy	4	0	2	22	33

So, on games to date, Austria does distinctly better than Italy. And somewhat better than Germany. And if we compare it with France, just above it on the list ((This was written before the end of '67AC as John later noted)) on the basis of forces surviving at end of play, in cases of other survival, we get the following table;

France	15	12	11	10	8	7	7	7	7	6	6	6	5	5	4	3	3	3	2	2	2
Austria	14	12	12	10	9	7	7	6	5	4	4	3	3	2	2	1	1	1	1	1	1
France	1	1	1	1	1
Austria	-	-	-	-	-

As can be seen, Austria does quite as well as France in the real contending survival cases. Where France does better is in having many more of the minor survivals in the 6-5-4-3 range. That is, for a player in a win, or a real try for a win, I don't think that Austria is a worse choice than France. The chances of survival are lower, but the chances of real accomplishment are little worse. This certainly is the view of John Smythe, who has stated that France is the worse possible country to play, and who has played Austria in zines which give players partial choice of country. That isn't to say that Austria was always John's first choice in those games, but it was presumably high on his preference lists. ((As a matter of fact, I will say that the least favored countries for myself, are Italy, England, and Turkey in that order. Germany and Austria may not be the front runners, but they are the most fun to play!))

While on the subject of Austria, let me extend congrats to Buddy Tretick on first win as Austria in 1967AC. Buddy needs no urging on future victories, he will doubtless take care of those himself.

INTERLUDE

We've changed machines again. My thanks to HHD 453d Trans Bn for the use of their Gestetner. And thanks to Monte Zelazny, who offered to run it off for us and mail the issue to boot. This would no doubt add fuel to the who is who fire.

Subscribers who get this by third class mail, please drop me a line or a card and let me know when you got this. It was mailed on 2 March 1969.

Brob is now on its third editor. Rod Walker informs me that it is now the third most traveled Diplomacy zine in existence. Rod's own Erewhon and Dan Brann's Wild 'n Woolly lead the pack. I seriously doubt that I can ever threaten their lead.

And so, let us on to the games.

München: The Grand Norm today graced this lovely city with his own noble bod. Apparently, his main purpose in making the visit was to attend the departure of the 39th Imperial Normese Army, although this city, the geographical beginning of Normahism, has always been one of his favorite stopping points.

as an alias for Larry Peery. EH))

NOTICE!

I will now delve into a subject which is near and dear to my heart. When I took over Brobdingnag as its third editor, I kept the policy of trading "all for all." To my understanding, this has been the position of all the major Diplomacy journals. Well, down to the real heart of the matter. I'm sending to all, but I durn sure ain't getting all back. Now being of the opinion that if I'm putting out of mine, you can put out of yours, I'm announcing a cut back of trade issues from those editors I don't hear from. Of course, those editors whose games I'm in will continue to receive this work of art.

Those fine, upstanding souls with which I have current trade agreements are:

JOHN BOARDMAN - Graustark	DAN BRANNAN - Wild 'N Wooly
DON COWAN - Attaquer	GERHARD GRAEBNER - Nemedian Chron.
ERIC JUST - The Diplomat	JEFF KEY - The Voice
JOHN McCALLUM - Alcedama	DON MILLER - Diplomania
CLIFF OLILLA - International Inquirer	LARRY PEERY - Xenogogic
ROBERT PERKINS - Spald Jr.	ROD WALKER - Erehwon

I know that some editors publish on an irregular schedule, as do Charles Wells and, as an extreme case, Monte Zelazny. If you have not published since I started with this magazine, drop me a line and I'll keep you among the fortunate.

THE BROB RATING LIST

This issue of the Brob rating list is somewhat abbreviated from the last one, as it has dropped those Diplomacy players who are no longer active. Some players are still included, as they played in games which are not yet completed. They will be dropped when the game is completed, unless they enter another.

Rating list - underlining indicates changes since the last list. Games counted - 1963B, 1964A, B, D, 1965A, B, D, E, F, G, H, I, L, M, Q, R, S, T, U, V, W, 1966A, B, D, E, F, H, I, K, L, M, N, O, R, AA, AB, AC, AG, AI, AK, AL, AM, AQ, AU, BB, BT, BJ, BK, 1967E, H, I, P, V, AC, AF, AG, AK, AT, AU, 1968P.

For 63 games in all.

The list follows on the next page.

GAB BAG

Buddy Tretick, editor of La Guerre, is running a unique game. Although it is more or less unique in that it admits that the players therein have no scruples. A listing for this game is included in this issue, and will be carried here. This is due to the fact that your fearless ((??)) editor plays Germany in this so called "Thieves' Game." According to Buddy, the one ruling premise in this game is that you cannot trust your neighbors. Let the reader judge for himself, for the cast of characters follows:

England	Edi Birsan
France	Duddy Tretick
Germany	Ed Halle ((Who else??))
Italy	John Koning
Austria	Conrad von Metzke
Russia	David May
Turkey	Terry Kuch

I will say that the list has changed from those originally invited to play. In fact, only four of the seven are original invitees.

Aeolus is back in semi publication. While the zine has not been seen since last summer, the games are now being carried out by carbon copy letter.

Erehwon, by Rod Walker, is still looking for players in its "Diplomacy Widows" game. Entrants must be female, be married, engaged or otherwise attached to a Diplomacy player, Have been stood up on at least occasion for a game of Diplomacy, and, most important, be willing to pay a $4 fee to play.((I tried to get Joanie to enter, Rod, but was threatened with having to cook my own meals.)) has game openings. The "House rules" are modded after those in Diplophobia and the 'zine bears a great resemblance to a slimmed down Erehwon. Looks promising.

Attaquer, by Don Cowan - 1605 8th Ave SW - Decatur, Al 35601

THE POSTAL POUCH

We'd like to say at this time in response to letters from our players and readers that the Freiherr von Speilen has blown it. Some proofreader! He neglected to note that I had left off the line on #23, The Spring Raid, which specifically disallowed it. The nicest thing said about the Spring Raid was Doug Beyerlein's comment that it was a bookkeepers nightmare. You may extrapolate from there. Also missed was the omission on Rule #22, a force attacked from two sides. The omitted line stated that the attacked force (Italian Army Piedmont) survives. Freiherr von Speilen has been suffering from a reduced beer ration. He has promised to be much more attentive on this issue.

Gainesville has fairly good postal service from upcountry. I will cite as proof a letter - air mail - which Norm Zinkhan had postmarked at 8PM on 24 February which was in my box at 2PM on 26 February. Surface is usually a day slower.

Brobdingnag-3 allows you to change moves an infinite number of times before the deadline. I will not type up the games until after the deadline, although I do type up the gab bag and the roster beforehand. Most magazines do allow this, and I can think of only one outstanding exception.

On the subject of rules, those of you who get Diplophobia, look at game PTC - '67BB - Germany - and you will see an example of Koning's rule in use.

I might say that I have one holdover looking for the opening of Brobdingnag-3's third game, tentatively named ADA. Fees are $3 for anyone not in games ABA or ACA, $2 to anyone in either of those games. This will be the last game I will be starting for quite some time. I find it adds to the interest to have your games at different stages of play.

Diplomacy, a game on how to lose friends and alienate people, was invented by Alan Calhmer, and is manufactured by Games Research, Inc., 48 Wareham Street, Boston Mass 02118 for the cuddley sum of $7.50 postpaid. Brobdingnag-3 is a zine devoted to the postal version of that game. It has game openings and may be obtained from Eduard Halle, Box 903, Gainesville, Fla 32601. Sub rate is 10/$1.50.
